King Hiram Entertains

King Hiram Lodge, A. F. & A. M. held another of their very enjoyable and successful "At Home" parties in the Opera House on Tuesday evening. There were over two hundred guests present, four auto loads from Three Hills, three from Olds and three from Carstairs as well as guests from Calgary and other points being amongst the number.

The house was tastefully decorated with the emblems of the order and other decorations and after the guests were all assembled and the affair in full swing presented a very pleasing and animated scene, which helped greatly to add enjoyment to the affair.

Dr. J. L. Clarke, Wor. Master of King Hiram Lodge, started the proceedings with a short address of welcome and then introduced Mr. Harry Hutchcroft, prominent Rotarian and Broncho Buster of Calgary, who was a guest and who started the proceedings with one of his inimitable songs after which he sang some parodies, which included the names of some of the prominent Masons, and encouraged those present to join in the choruses which opened up the affair as nothing else could have done. Mr. Hutchcroft also sang at different times during the evening.

Mr. Jack Gooder of Olds, another popular singer also, favored the gathering with several songs and Mr. Harry Beckler's orchestra, of Carstairs, provided excellent music for the dancing during the evening.

Dancing and games with the music and songs provided a splendid social evening which was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Special mention should be made of the fine buffet lunch provided and served by Bro. and Mrs. J. A. Russell, with a capable staff of assistants, at one section of the house. The tables were loaded with good things to eat as well as being tastefully decorated with flowers. This is the first affair for which Mr. Russell has catered in town and no doubt because of their excellent service at this one it will not be the last.

The whole proceedings ended about two o'clock with everybody who was present tired but, extremely well satisfied with the splendid evening's program.

The Officers and members of King Hiram are to be congratulated on the success of the affair, the different committees responsible especially.

Mother and Daughter Banquet

On Friday evening the Semi-Ahoo group of the C. G. I. T. met to honor their mothers at a banquet and program in the I. O. O. F. Hall. In all there were thirty-three present at this gathering. The room was tastefully decorated in blue, white and gold while white yellow candles decorated the tables.

After the supper a program consisting of songs, toasts, and lastly a candle ceremony was very much enjoyed and appreciated. The singing of "Taps" brought the happy event to a close.

Peter Veregin Killed

A bad explosion occurred in the Kettle River Valley railroad on Tuesday when five passengers were killed and a great many others injured.

Peter Veregin, the Doukhobor chief was one of those killed. The C. P. R. after an investigation, has a suspicion that the explosion was caused by some human agency. It is reported that Veregin's life had been threatened by some of his own followers.

Elections in U. S.

Next Tuesday the Presidential election takes place in the United States, three candidates being in the arena, President Coolidge, republican, J. W. Davis, democrat, and Senator LaFollette, independent having their caps in the ring. The usual lambasting from all sides is being indulged in and nobody knows how the result will turn out.

Ontario Still Dry

With a majority of about 50,000 out of a total vote of over a million Ontario again decided to stay dry in the plebiscite held in that province last Thursday.

The prohibition forces in that province now state that they are going to carry the fight on to Ottawa to get a Dominion law passed for Dominion prohibition.

In the meantime the urban centres went for moderation while the rural sections went prohibition, and the Ontario government's task is to try and put a stop to the bootlegging that is being carried on in the cities.

AROUND THE TOWN

Mr. Harry Gabel has been sworn in as constable for the town.

The new automatic stoker has been received for the electric light plant.

Mrs. W. Derby and Miss W. Studer were visitors at Calgary over the week end.

Mr. Lawrence Sick of Duluth, Minn., arrived here last Friday to visit his father, Mr. W. F. Sick, who is very ill.

A drunk was put in the lockup on Saturday night for creating a disturbance. He was liberated on Sunday as his offence was not considered very serious.

Mr. Stewart Tighe is building a fine residence and barn on Boundary Street, just east of the Didsbury General Hospital.

Rev. W. J. McNutt left on Monday to attend the Presbyterian Synod meeting to be held in that city for the next two days. Mr. McNutt expects to return on Thursday.

The combined Fall-Stock Show and auction sale of horses, beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine will be held at the exhibition grounds, Calgary, November 4th to 7th.

Mr. W. F. Sick, who is confined to the Didsbury General Hospital is still very ill, in fact his condition is worse than it was a few days ago. His popularity in both town and district is being very clearly demonstrated by the very large number of visitors calling on him at the hospital.

A False Conception Of Values

Attention has been drawn recently in the press of Eastern Canada to the case of Dr. Saunders, of the Dominion Experimental Farms, who developed Marquis wheat. About thirty years ago Dr. Saunders began experimenting in an effort to produce a type of wheat possessing the milling qualities of the old Red Fife, but as more adaptable to productive growth in Western Canada. Marquis wheat was the result. The development of Marquis wheat has added hundreds of millions of dollars to the wealth of Canada and has been a large contributing factor in placing this Dominion in the front rank of wheat producing countries. It means millions of dollars annually to the farmers of Canada.

As director of Experimental Farms, Dr. Saunders was in receipt of a very modest salary. It was not a salary from which he could make substantial savings against his old age, nor enable him to make large and profitable investments. It constituted a fair living, and that is all. Dr. Saunders has now retired from active service and he is allowed a superannuation allowance of a little over twenty dollars a week.

Yet people frequently express surprise because men of genius and ability do not enter the public service of their country and give to the country at large the benefit of their investigations, discoveries and inventions instead of entering the service of some large private corporation.

Suppose Dr. Saunders, instead of giving the results of his work to Canada at large, had been employed by a private corporation, and had developed for them something which meant tens of millions of dollars profit, does anyone imagine that corporation would have paid him a bare living wage and in his old age given him a pittance of a few dollars a week, not sufficient to maintain himself in comfort in these days. On the contrary, he would have commanded a salary running into five figures.

If Dr. Banting, the discoverer of insulin treatment for diabetes, had kept that discovery to himself and patented it for commercial sale, he would already be a very wealthy man. But Dr. Banting's discovery was patented solely to control the product, keep it up to standard, and in order to prevent it being commercially exploited. It is being made available to suffering humanity as close to actual cost as possible. And Dr. Banting refused an offer of hundreds of thousands of dollars to leave Canada and go to the United States to continue his great work.

But all men are not actuated by the same high ideals of public service as Dr. Saunders and Dr. Banting. Therefore, if the Government and people of Canada are to benefit from the services of well qualified experts in their particular professions or lines of business and industry, they must be prepared to pay for their services commensurate to what private corporations will gladly give. It is because the Government and people of Canada have not yet awakened to the truth that we read almost every day of some Canadian, prominent in some walk of life, having left the Dominion for the United States where he has accepted some important and highly remunerative position. Thus is Canada losing not merely population but brains and ability amounting to genius which is helping to further develop and add to the prestige and wealth of the United States, but which should be doing these same things for Canada.

Many men and women in Canada today are giving all their abilities and energies in public and semi-public service in exchange for small salaries. They are doing so because of love of country and the work in which they are engaged. What will happen to them when old age comes they sometimes contemplate with a shudder. Yet it is the exception and not the rule when these men and women are not the subject of carping criticism on the score of the slight remuneration they do receive by people who may have contributed a dollar or two to the prosecution of the work in which these others are devoting their whole lives without thought for the future. But there would be no such criticism of these same men and women if they devoted their abilities and energies in private business and amassed wealth for themselves at the expense of the public. The public pays whether it is large profits and accumulated wealth to those in private business, or in salaries for public and semi-public service rendered. It all comes out of the pockets of the public at large.

The public conscience of this Dominion needs an awakening to true values in service. Because of false conceptions now so prevalent, this country is being held back, its development arrested, its progress regrettably slow when it ought to be amazingly rapid and the envy and admiration of the world.

Chinese Adopts Indian Orphan

In British Columbia, according to reports, the Chinese have had a strong feeling against the Indians, refusing to attend school where the teachers may have a touch of Indian blood. But a recent incident may change the feeling, an Indian orphan girl having been adopted by Chow Wing, Chinese merchant, and his wife, at Vancouver.

Germany May Build Zeppelin For France

Scheme Would Postpone Dismantling Of Works For Two Years

A scheme which would postpone the dismantling of the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, Germany, for at least two years, and by which the construction of another giant dirigible, similar to the ZR-3 which was delivered to the United States by a trans-Atlantic flight would be made possible, is described in Le Journal, Paris.

A French company which has purchased patent rights from the Zeppelin Company with the intention of using them for commercial dirigible lines, according to the newspapers, has suggested that the Zeppelin Company build another ZR-3 for France to be considered on the reparation account.

The German Government is understood to favor the scheme which will be put before the reparation commission.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACHS

Indigestion Disappears When the Blood Is Enriched

The urgent need of all who suffer from indigestion is a tonic to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food taken. In this condition some people foolishly resort to purgatives, but these only further aggravate the trouble.

New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills enrich and purify the blood. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone to the stomach, and it accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follow the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The appetite revives, food can be taken without discomfort and the burden and pains of indigestion are dispelled. Miss Mollie Averill, Clanton, Mich., writes: "I was suffering from indigestion and my stomach rejected all food and I could not even keep down a light custard. I tried some tablets recommended for dyspepsia, but they did not do me a particle of good. Then I got medicine from a doctor, but with no better results. By this time I had changed from a robust, healthy girl to a complete skeleton, losing flesh daily. Then my parents asked me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began their use. After taking them for a short time I began to feel better and continued the treatment until I was completely restored to health. Since, on rare occasions when I have felt the need of a tonic, I turn to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they never disappoint me. Most members of our family have at some time taken the pills with good results, so I now always recommend them to all in need of a reliable tonic." You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Insects Like High Temperature

If you suffer from the heat, consider the plight of the desert bug. Insects in the deserts of Palestine are active and cheerful when the midsummer sun raises the temperature of the sand to 140 degrees Fahrenheit, according to recent researches of the Royal Society.

Health cannot be looked for in the child that is subject to worms, because worms destroy health by creating internal disturbances that retard development and cause serious weakness. Miller's Worm Powders expel worms and are so beneficial in their action that the systems of the little sufferers are restored to healthfulness, all the discomforts and dangers of worm infection are removed, and satisfactory growth is assured.

Sockeye Salmon In Lake Ontario

Experiments Carried Out Give Promise Of Success

The Pacific salmon of the sockeye family, so valuable to canners, has been brought to Lake Ontario and successfully launched into fresh water. Years of experiment have shown that the fish have grown and flourished in their new environment. Fully matured sockeye have been caught in Lake Ontario during the past season.

The value of the innovation is obvious in considering the desirability of a salmon-canning industry in Ontario. The work has been going on for six years and an average of 200,000 young sockeye have been released in Lake Ontario each year.

Another Theory About Lightning

Caused By Two Kinds of Electricity Coming Into Contact

The latest accepted theory about the cause of lightning is based on experiments conducted in India by Dr. George C. Simpson. Simpson's explanation starts with the fact, previously determined by laboratory experiments, that when drops of water are broken up there is a separation of negative and positive electricity. This process occurs on a large scale in thunderstorms, where the falling raindrops are broken before they reach the earth by the powerful uprushes of air that occur in such storms. Positive electricity tends to remain in the drops, while negative electricity is carried aloft by the rising air and eventually gives a strong negative charge to the higher parts of the clouds. The two kinds of electricity have a tendency to reunite and neutralize each other, but they are kept from doing so by the air, which is a bad conductor. However, when the opposite charges are strong enough they suddenly break a path through the air and lightning is produced.

From the currents induced in transmission lines by lightning discharges at known distances from the lines, it has been estimated that the voltage of an average lightning flash is about 100,000,000 volts. Rough estimates have been made as to the strength of current in lightning, giving values ranging from 10,000 to nearly 100,000 amperes.—Motor Magazine.

Relieves Asthma at Little Expense

Thousands of dollars have been vainly spent upon remedies for asthma and seldom, if ever, with any relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, despite its assurance of benefit, costs so little that it is within reach of all. It is the national remedy for asthma, far removed from the class of doubtful and experimental preparations. Your dealer can supply it.

Savings banks for German children in the form of toys have come as a reminder that the days of the inflation period have passed. Children are encouraged to save by their parents, for the municipal saving institutions pay interest ranging from 8 to 15 per cent.

Wonderful New Airplane

Britain claims the most wonderful new airplane ever built, a biplane with a wing span of seventy feet, and three decks, one above the other. The plane is reported to have been especially designed to carry the largest naval torpedo, built, and its motive power is a 1,000-horsepower Napier engine. Its speed will average 120 miles an hour, with 150 for extreme use.

She Got Relief From HEART TROUBLE

By Using MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter.

I could not walk up stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and in no time I felt a great improvement and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR TRAINING OF BOY IMMIGRANTS

Winnipeg.—The Salvation Army will in future give the immigrants brought from Great Britain to Canada a practical training in agricultural work, especially young men and boys, according to plans outlined here by Commissioner David Lamb, of London, England, chief of the army's emigration department.

Three plans are now under consideration for the 1925 season, and arrangements have been made for the allocation of £250,000 from the general funds to carry on the work. The army, which already has a training farm at Brandon, Manitoba, is negotiating for the purchase of the Birtle, Manitoba, demonstration farm from the Provincial Government. The schemes outlined were:

(1) Boy emigration; (2) young man emigration; and (3) family emigration in groups.

Commissioner Lamb explained that the boys would be given training in England and then would be distributed from the Brandon farm to agriculturists in the west. The second scheme will provide for training of young men between the ages of 18 and 20 on the army's farms in the west, and the third will provide for the training in communities of from 12 to 20 families. The families will be housed in separate buildings and will be given from 10 to 12 cattle to each family. Commissioner Lamb said: "We shall start them off with everything, and to help them to be self-supporting, they will take half the produce, while we will retain the other half. These families will be trained from three to five years."

Community Chest Fund Will Be Considered

Scheme Laid Before Board of Control At Ottawa

Ottawa.—A scheme for the creation of a community chest fund or federated budget, for charity purposes, along the lines of the Winnipeg Foundation Fund, has been laid before the board of control by Controller Arthur Ellis and will be considered at a special meeting.

Controller Ellis states that the city solicitor has prepared a draft of legislation that would be needed to enable the fund to be created, and he felt it a propitious time to authorize getting the approval of the Ontario Legislature.

Saskatchewan Legislature

Opening Date of Fifth Assembly Fixed For Nov. 13

Regina, Sask.—The framing of new liquor legislation will be the principal business of the Saskatchewan Legislature which opens Thursday, Nov. 13.

Announcement of the opening date of the fifth session of the fifth Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly was made tonight.

The attorney-general has been busy preparing the draft of the new liquor legislation for some time, and it is now practically ready for submission to the legislature. The provisions of the new bill are being kept at close secret.

French Wheat Crop Larger

Ottawa.—A cablegram received from the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, states that the official preliminary estimate of the wheat crop of France is 282,340,000 bushels, compared with 275,572,000 last year. The rye crop of France is 39,880,000 bushels, against 36,517,000 in 1923.

Ratification Of Treaty Between Canada and Belgium

Ottawa.—A ceremony, which is almost without parallel in the history of Canada, took place in the office of the prime minister here, when ratifications of the commercial treaty between Canada and Belgium were formally exchanged. This is the final act in the conclusion of the first treaty to be signed in the Dominion capital. The ratifications were exchanged by John Van Ryckstall, of Montreal, senior consular representative in Canada of the Belgian Government, and Hon. James A. Robb, acting minister of finance for Canada.

Twenty-Two Years In Solitary Confinement

Fanatical Enemy Of British In Holy War Has Been Released

Montreal.—A special cable published by a local newspaper announces that Osman Digna, famous in the days when the Mahdi was waging his holy war against the British in the Sudan and who was captured three years after the battle of Omdurman, when Lord Kitchener finally subdued the fanatical Dervishes, the followers of the Khalifa, has been released after 22 years of solitary confinement from a cell at Wadi Halfa. Osman is on a pilgrimage to Mecca.

According to the cable, the British Foreign Office had forgotten all about Osman until the question was raised at the last session of parliament.

During Great Britain's Sudanese troubles in the last quarter of the nineteenth century, Osman was one of the most fanatical, most persistent and cunning of the British enemies.

It is said that he is now nearly 100 years old.

Segregation Advanced As Only Cure For the Drug Evil

Saskatoon.—Segregation of addicts as the only cure for the drug evil was advocated here by T. W. Cowan, of the Dominion Department of Narcotics Investigation, speaking before the Social Welfare Congress. Mr. Cowan said that Canada had the strictest laws of any nation to fight the evil.

Brother Barbas, director of boys' work for the Roman Catholic Church, told the congress he would like to see elderly men who now spend their time on golf links, take the leadership of groups of boys. In this way, he said, they would find greater happiness and be a real service to the community.

Heavy Freight Traffic

Railways of Canada Exceeded Record During 1923

Ottawa.—Freight traffic during 1923 was the heaviest ever handled by the railways of Canada, according to Bureau of Statistics returns issued. It aggregated 102,258,933 tons of revenue freight, and $4,067,658,527 ton miles, making the average distance each ton was carried, 333 miles. The previous high record was made in 1920 with 31,894,411,479 revenue ton miles.

Passenger traffic was nine per cent. heavier than in 1922, but was still below the records made in 1919 and 1920.

28th Battalion Re-union

Old Comrades To Foregather In Regina On Nov. 1 and 2

Regina.—The 28th Battalion, C.E.F., of the hard-fighting Iron Sixth Brigade, is to hold the re-union of its members at Regina on November first and second. An excellent programme has been arranged, including a theatre party, banquet and concert on Saturday the first, and a church parade on Sunday the second.

Members of the unit are scattered far and wide, and the addresses of many are unknown, and for this reason it is impossible to send a personal invitation to the majority of them. The committee in charge, however, are endeavoring by newspaper notices and radio broadcasting, to advertise the event as much as possible, and request that every former member of the battalion who receives this or any notice of the re-union, accept it as a cordial personal invitation to be present, and to notify all other members, of whose whereabouts he knows, to make a very special effort to come.

Special railway rates are being arranged. Single fare tickets to Regina should be purchased, and a standard certificate requested from the local ticket agent. When this is presented to the railway agent at Regina, a reduced rate will be given for the return trip.

It is ten years ago since the battalion mobilized in Winnipeg on Nov. 1, 1914.

Smuggle Grain To Canada

American Wheat Said to Have Been Brought In Illegally to Obtain Higher Prices

Winnipeg.—An extensive system of grain smuggling from North Dakota and Minnesota to Manitoba points is being carried on this year, according to information obtained here. The price of wheat is several cents higher in Canada, and this has proved an inducement to many south of the line to get their grain sold through the Winnipeg market. In former years conditions were the reverse; prices were higher in the United States, and grain was smuggled in from Canada.

Discussing the situation here, P. A. Lee, secretary of the North Dakota Grain Dealers' Association, said efforts had been made last spring to get the co-operation of government officials to stop the smuggling, but that little action resulted from the negotiations. "The smuggling of grain from one side of the line to the other is a yearly occurrence," said Mr. Lee.

U.S. Navy Explosion

Norfolk, Va.—Four more names were added to the list of dead from the explosion aboard the cruiser Trenton in Hampton Roads on Monday, bringing the total to twelve. The incident shows that the league is being used more and more as machinery for airing the grievances of small states, which fear absorption by the larger ones.

Large Representation to Wait on Premier King at Regina

Regina.—The necessity for the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway at the earliest possible moment will be pressed upon Premier Mackenzie King during his visit to Regina by a big delegation representative of all classes in Saskatchewan, says the Leader.

In addition to the city members of the On-to-the-Bay Association, the following organizations have been invited to appoint representatives to serve on the delegation: Saskatchewan Agricultural Co-operative Associations; Saskatchewan Stock Growers' Association; Saskatchewan Horse Breeders' Association; Saskatchewan Cattle Breeders' Association; Saskatchewan Swine Breeders' Association; Saskatchewan Agricultural Societies' Association; Farmers' Union of Canada; Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association; Saskatchewan Livestock Association; Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited; Saskatchewan Wheat Pool; Saskatchewan Registered Seed Growers' Association; Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited; Saskatchewan Co-operative Wool Growers' Association; Saskatchewan Rural Municipal Association; and the Saskatchewan Sheep Breeders' Association.

The delegation will wait upon the federal premier early Monday forenoon, November 3.

Manitoba Grain Crop

Threshing Is Now Well On Way To Completion

Winnipeg.—A few more days of fine weather will see the Manitoba grain crop safely threshed, it is estimated by the provincial department of agriculture. The protracted spell of wet weather caused little damage to the crop, according to the department's statement, though there was some loss through sprouting in the sheaf and from bleaching.

Threshing now is in full blast everywhere and in southern and central areas is well on its way to completion. It is thought that unless the freeze-up is late there will be comparatively little fall plowing done.

Japan Plans World Flight

Start Would Be Made In Spring Of 1925

Tokyo.—Plans for a Japanese round-the-world flight are now in preparation by the Imperial Aviation Society and the Government Aviation Board. It is proposed to select two civilian aviators for the attempt, and to construct the machine at the Nakajima Aeroworks at Nagoya. The start would be made in the spring of 1925. Funds for the attempt may be raised partly by popular subscription and partly from government appropriations.

Celebrated 104th Birthday

Vancouver.—Dad Quick, Vancouver's grand old man, celebrated his 104th birthday, Oct. 22. He is as hale and hearty as ever and continues to work at his trade of saddlemaker.

"Early to bed, early to rise, and a lot of hard work," is Dad's recipe for a happy, healthy life. Every morning finds him hard at work at his bench.

French Recognition of Soviet Delayed

Paris.—The recognition of the Soviets, which was semi-officially announced for Friday, Oct. 17, is now understood to have been delayed by the Russians themselves. Moscow, it is said, has indicated through French supporters that even tacit reservations concerning debts will not be tolerated in the act of recognition.

MAY SUSPEND RECENT ORDER ON FREIGHT RATES

Ottawa.—The western freight rates situation continues to be actively to the front in Ottawa, and it was discussed at a recent Cabinet Council. While no conclusion was announced, it is known that some of the ministers favor the order of the railway commission being suspended until the legal status of the case and the jurisdiction of the railway board are disposed of by the Supreme Court. It is considered that this would remove the doubt that arises from the divided conclusions of the railway commission.

The government has the right to suspend the commission's order and had been asked to do so by the governments of the three prairie provinces, but this procedure should be taken it would be an interim process pending the issue of the appeal to the Supreme Court.

The intimation heretofore has been that notification of any kind will not be taken until the prime minister returns on November 10, meanwhile the railways propose to withdraw the Crow's Nest rates unless stopped by order-in-council, such as some of the ministers favor. Premier King and his colleagues in the west are being communicated with in regard to the situation.

Disputes Russian Claim

Former Dowager Empress Says Cyril's Action Was Premature

Paris.—The recent manifesto issued at Berlin by Grand Duke Cyril of Russia declaring himself Emperor of all the Russians, is disputed by the former Dowager Empress of Russia, Maria Feodorovna, in a letter to Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevitch, who is now living in France.

The former Dowager Empress says that Cyril's action was premature, since she still hopes that the Russian royal family is not dead. She addresses Nicholas as "the oldest member of the House of Romanoff," and says "our future Emperor will be designated by our fundamental laws, in union with the Orthodox Church and the Russian people."

Grand Duke Nicholas, in publishing the letter, appeals to all Russians to carry on the holy task of the liberation of Russia.

Gift For Retiring Officer

Department of Immigration in Many Lands Honors Ottawa Official

Ottawa.—W. D. Scott, who retired as assistant deputy minister of immigration and colonization, June 30, was presented with a solid silver tea service and tray and an illuminated address by all the employees of the departments in Canada, the United States, Great Britain and on the continent of Europe.

Mr. Scott played a prominent part in the colonization of Western Canada, his first active work being when he sold the first section of Canadian Pacific Railway land, near Brandon, in 1881 for $2.50 an acre, subject to a rebate of $1.25 an acre for the area brought under cultivation within three years. The purchaser was the late Charles Whitehead, father of the present editor and owner of the Brandon Sun.

Try These Recipes

The following tried and "found successful" recipes are being printed by the Department of Household Economics of the Women's Institute at the request of the members. Mrs. Studer recently gave a demonstration on the possibilities of whole wheat flour and these were the recipes used.

Whole Wheat or Graham Bread

Scald 2 cups of milk, put in mixing bowl, add 2 table spoons butter or lard and 4 tablespoons brown sugar, when dissolved add 2 cup of water to cool.

When the mixture is luke warm add 1 cake of Fleischmann's Yeast stir till dissolved and add enough white flour to make a soft sponge. Beat well. Cover and set aside in a warm place. Do not put on back of stove or on warming oven on a chair beside the stove is preferable.

When well risen and bubbly, add a pint of luke warm water, 1 table spoon of salt and mix stiff with whole wheat or Graham flour. Take out on bread board and knead.

Let rise till it doubles in bulk then mould into loaves and place in well greased baking pans, cover and let rise about 1 hour or till light. Bake slightly over 1 hour in a slower oven than for white bread.

Whole Wheat or Graham Pie Crust

Use the same method as you do for making pie crust, only use half white flour and half whole wheat or Graham flour and instead of using water for moistening use cold milk. Always use 1 tea spoon of baking powder in flour.

Whole Wheat or Graham Gems

1 Egg, beaten
1 Cup sour cream
1 Tablespoon brown sugar
1 Teaspoon soda

Three quarter cup white flour; three quarter cup whole wheat or Graham flour.

Bake in Gem tins.

Whole Wheat or Graham Wafers

Half cup butter
Half cup lard
Cup brown sugar

Half cup thin sour cream, or milk will do

1 Teaspoon soda
Enough whole wheat or Graham flour to roll out—about four cups.

Cut with a square or round cutter as you wish. These are nice plain or spread with date mixture, oatmeal date cookies.

Whole Wheat Cocoa Cake

Half cup butter
Cup granulated sugar
2 Eggs
Half cup milk
4 Tablespoons cocoa
One and a half cups whole wheat flour
2 Teaspoons baking powder
Half teaspoon cinnamon
Half teaspoon nutmeg
Half teaspoon salt

Third cup each of seeded raisins, chopped citron and chopped nuts.

Method: Cream shortening and sugar till light then the beaten eggs. Bring the milk to a scald and pour over the cocoa, when cool add to first mixture. Mix the dry ingredients and add next. Then the floured fruit and nuts and beat thoroughly. Bake in well greased loaf tin in a slow oven about one hour.

Tourist business throughout Canada has been remarkably productive this year and it is estimated that its total value for the Dominion will exceed $100,000,000. This places the tourist traffic high among Canada's industries.

The "Princess Kathleen", one of the two fine steamers under construction for the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia coastal service, was launched at Glasgow, Scotland, on September 27th. Lady Mount Stephen, widow of Lord Mount Stephen, former president of the company, performed the launching ceremony.

HEADQUARTERS—Beveridge Building, Calgary, Alberta

Prince of Wales' "Little Grey Home in the West"

THE PRINCE'S THOROUGHBRED SHEEP

After having enjoyed about as much privacy as the proverbial goldfish during the international polo games near New York, the Prince of Wales retired to the quiet and seclusion of his Canadian "Little Grey Home in the West," 25 miles from High River, Alberta, a station on the Canadian Pacific, to rest for a few days, recreate and work far from curious crowds, reporters, still photographers and "movie" men. It is very pleasant, no doubt, to be the most popular young man in the world, but about once a year the rolling hills and rich prairie land of his "E. P. Ranch" call the Prince of Wales, Baron Renfrew or "Davy Windsor," as they refer to H.R.H. in Alberta, back to the land.

The prince is a real farmer and rancher, and is honestly endeavoring to improve the breed of horses, sheep and cattle in Western Canada. His pure-bred, imported animals and their offspring have won many prizes in competition at live stock shows in Western Canada, not because they were from the royal ranch, but because they were the very best exhibited. Since he bought his 4,100 acre ranch in Alberta in 1919, the prince has been sending to it the best stock he could secure in Great Britain, and every year he sells at auction the surplus animals for the benefit of live stock breeders in the western provinces. The Earl of Minto, who has a big ranch near-by, does the same thing. Also, King George loans the prince some of his best animals for the stud.

"He's a neighborly kid," said one of the members of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association. "When he comes out here we don't chase him as they do in other places. We just let him ride, and next thing you know he has all of us neighbors in as his guests, and meets us just as a neighbor. He wants to meet all the ranchers who are his neighbors, and there isn't a thing about ranching he doesn't want to know. His ranch is no fad. He is running it for the benefit of Canada first, and second for the purpose of making the 'E. P. Ranch' a business venture, just as any level-headed man would do. When he is on the ranch he wears a 'ten gallon hat, the same as all of the cowboys, and he does his work daily like any other ranch hand. A regular feller, that's what we call him, 'regular feller'."

"No line," she answered regretfully, after a moment's thought. "None at all, unless—There's a young woman he met up the creeks, a missionary's relative, I believe. I saw her speak to him one day on King Street and, of course, he had to explain. He met her when he was just plain Barton Caswell and was out prospecting. From her uncle, he learned of the wrongs being done by the Montreal gang, but until that uniform fell into his hands, he did not conceive any way of getting the best of them. Perhaps these missionary folks can help you."

Evidently Bart had played his cards with the skill of an expert, thought Seymour. From the widow's impassioned admission she held no grudge against the Duperow girl. There had been no hint of slur in her tones that mentioned the younger, prettier woman. All this suggested that she must have had implicit faith in the crook's love for her.

Declaring his intention of looking up the mission folks, the sergeant returned to the subject of the foot. Had she asked no further about the nature of it?

"I surely did, but his answer was always the same. 'Richer than gold, Marge, rich than gold.' He said he'd be the first mounted policeman in the history of the Force to make a clean-up, even if he was one only for a week. This stroke was to mean luxury for me, a home in an orange grove in California, diamond rings set in platinum, fine dresses—everything! I think this morning, when he rode out so bravely, that he hoped to come back to Gold. The foot is up there in the creeks, you know, and Alaska is still farther on. Any hour the real sergeant—who has turned out to be you—might have ridden in, as, in truth, you did."

Satisfied that the bandit's widow withheld nothing worth while, Seymour was anxious to be off about the invitation which Ruth Duperow had "dotted" to him. He felt, however, that he owed Bart's widow something for the information which, once she started to impart it, had been given so frankly. He was minded to pay at once, even if the coin thereof was only good advice.

"For the present, you had best sit tight here and say nothing, Mrs. Caswell," he began. "I suppose it was easy come, easy go with Bart; that he leaves you practically nothing. From what I've seen of your trade this evening, you have a paying proposition in the restaurant. I don't see any reason why you can't go on with it."

"But when people know—"

ASK THIS HALIFAX NURSE

She Is Willing to Answer Letters from Women Asking About Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Halifax, Nova Scotia.—"I am a maternity nurse, and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I am English and my husband is American, and he told me of Lydia E. Pinkham while in England. I would appreciate a copy or two of your little books on women's ailments. I have one which I keep to lend. I will willingly answer letters from any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. S. M. COLEMAN, 24 Uniacke Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Could Not Sleep Nights

Dublin, Ontario.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it and I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight all the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others."—Mrs. JAMES RACHO, Box 12, Dublin, Ontario.

W. N. U. 1548

"Maybe they need never know that Bart was anything but a boarder," Seymour interposed hopefully. "You seem to have guarded your secret well when even infatuated old Cato didn't suspect your man of being more than a suitor."

The little woman had been too distressed to give thought to her own future; naturally she seemed uncertain about it. Then suddenly the flame of that love which was beyond Seymour's comprehension, but within his appreciation, flared to decision.

"But they will have to know if I save Bart's reputation!" she cried. "I'll not have the world think he killed that double-crossing stage driver in anything but defense of his own life."

Here was complication which disturbed the plans that the Mountie, impelled by his rugged conviction that every person was entitled to a square deal, had been making for her. He had no time to argue with her, so went on to impress her with what was vital to his own operations.

He could work to a better advantage toward the capture of Bart's slayer if the double unmasking was delayed. Her promise to say nothing until he gave her leave was his for the asking. The town folks would probably arrange an appropriate funeral for the dead "sergeant"; she would need to attend as a sorrowing acquaintance, but she must keep a tight rein on her emotions if she wished to aid in the capture. In this, ordeal though it would be, Mrs. Caswell promised to do her best.

As he arose to leave, he offered her his big hand. She reached out her small one timidly.

"I never thought I'd be shaking hands with a Mountie," she confessed in a murmuring voice. "I'm afraid I've hated you wearers of the scarlet, you were so all-sure of getting the men you went after and I never knew when Bart would fall into your clutches. But now—"

"That's all right, ma'am. You've helped a lot and I only hope I can get this crowd." He started for the door, but remembered one thing more. "That war bag of mine—I suppose Bart took it to the hotel when he moved. I'll be needing that other uniform when this mystery is cleared."

"The bag is still upstairs," she said quickly. "Bart only took some documents and papers besides what he wore. He didn't know but what his identity would be questioned when he suddenly changed from a mining expert to a policeman."

"And the room—is it rented?"

She shook her head.

"Then, if you'll accept me as a tenant until further notice we'll let the bag stay where it is. The rent?"

"I couldn't think of taking rent from you when you're working out my revenge," she said.

Seymour frowned. "I'm seeing that justice is done, madam," he said, referring to her use of the word revenge. "I am teaching Gold the value of human life. And I'll pay for the room—the usual rate."

To escape further discussion he hurried into the fallen night. Pondering the marvelous complexities of the women met in a day on the "Last Frontier," he nearly plumped into a mud hole which lay out front. Close to the shack lay a beaten path; this he followed. At the corner he was edging into the vacant lot which adjoined, when, without a flash of warning, something blacker than night fell over him.

Instinctively he struck out at this blackness, his knuckles denting a yielding substance that had a fibrous touch. Before he could throw off its enveloping folds, he felt a pair of strong arms go around his waist. They closed in as with a gathering string. The covering evidently was a horse blanket, judging by the smell.

As a sudden surge of fury against such "artful" man-handling lent him strength to thrash about, a heavy blow fell upon the back of his head. He felt his knees weaken under the shock of it, but claved and strained to break the hold about his waist. A second hammering blow descended. His ability to struggle failed him. His knees gave way. He was sinking into vast depths. The Gold garroter, whoever they were and whatever their object, had got him. "Scarlet" Seymour was out!

CHAPTER XX.
Morning's Maze

The awakening of Sergeant Seymour was painful; never before had he known that a head could ache with the throbs that were racking his. Presently his mind took hold of a fragmentary idea—a horse-blanket. Upon this, after a mental struggle, he was able to spread a picture of his sorry going-out at the hands of some mining-camp thugs, doubtless intent on robbing him.

His next wonder was what had awakened him and by way of answering that, he opened his eyes for a look around, the greatest surprise of which was broad daylight. The sun, then, must have served as his alarm clock—called him out of that night which was darker than any he had ever known before. Now its rays were streaming into a cabin room in which he lay, fully clad, upon a straw-stuffed bunk. He did not bother to get up just then; he merely lay back on the inadequate pillow of his slouch hat and "listened" to the ache of his head. The idea that he had been robbed persisted. To his surprise, he found that the currency belt around his waist had not been disturbed. Surely mining-camp crooks would know where to look for his valuables!

Then he felt his right hand over his chest to feel the holster that hung beneath his left arm. Greater surprise!

His gun lay ready in its usual concealment.

The conclusions, painful in their process, were at once comforting and disturbing. He had not been trimmed or even frisked. Robbery could not have been the motive behind the attack outside the widow's restaurant. Then—what?

Slowly he raised himself to a sitting position upon the bare bunk and permitted his eyes to rove until they settled upon another shock to his tortured comprehension. This was found in the narrow window through which the sun was streaming. Iron bars crossed the opening. He must be a prisoner in jail.

"Deputy Sheriff Samuel Hardley, the strong arm of the law!"

He swung his feet to the floor and took a somewhat wobbly stand. Further survey convinced him beyond doubt that he was in the blundering deputy's one-cell bastille. This proved to be built of logs with a door as thick as that of an ice box and studded with nails. The two windows were near the log ceiling, narrow, oblong and barred. There were three bunks along as many walls and a Yukon stove in the cell's center—no other furnishings, but enough for a frontier jail.

So, that was the lay of the cards, he mused darkly—the explanation of the surprise attack. After their talk in Brewster's room at the Bonanza, the fat deputy must have located Kaw—shod in front but plain behind—and his 30-30 rifle which he had left in the stable. Hardley had realized, then, that his ill-considered revelation of clues would have put his man on guard. Learning that Seymour, supposed murderer and robber of the stage, was in the restaurant he had made ambush and effected his arrest along safety-first lines.

There the deputy's caution seemed to have stopped, thought the sergeant, enjoying again the reinforcing feel of his gun. Neglect to search his prisoner was quite in keeping with other official blunders which the fat man had made. Seymour would have to give Hardley credit, however, for effecting a silent, bloodless capture—with a blanket, as he remembered it.

Full assurance on this point awaited his glance. Almost at his feet lay the thing—a worn horse-blanket. Possibly the deputy had covered him with it before locking him in and, in the restlessness of that-impelled slumber, Seymour had kicked it off.

A bottle that stood on the sheet iron stove invited inspection. Even before he picked it up, the stars on its label prepared him for the brandy smell which a sniff at its neck brought forth. If Hardley had been fortifying his courage with that high-powered stuff, it was no wonder he overlooked the gun. A drink of the liquor might have strengthened Seymour; but he realized he would need all his wit in the heated session which he meant should begin with the deputy's arrival at the jail. Lifting the stove top, he permitted the pint which remained in the bottle to gurgle into the ashes of some long-ago fire.

Seated on the edge of one of the bunks, he took stock of the situation. He had missed the late-night appointment at the O'Malley cabin on Glacier Creek. The missionary folk would think, probably, that they had left too much to his intuition in their excess of caution. That, however, meant only delay and, while hours were precious, he would make up for lost time once freed of Hardley's detecting.

It began to look as though he was not a huge success as a plain clothes man. He had taken off his mask for Bart's widow. Ruth Duperow evidently believed him to be a constable come to aid the murdered "sergeant." Now it seemed likely that he would be forced to make a confidant of the talkative Hardley in order to be able to carry on at all. If Bart had not made the uniform a conspicuous target for one bad outfit of that region, he'd be tempted to at once climb into the scarlet which the bandit had left unworn. Never had he liked "under-cover" patrols, but in this particular case, he felt that "civies" were essential.

An hour had passed since his awakening and he was beginning to wonder when the obese deputy fed his prisoners at his perforce boarding house. If the surmise taken from the half-filled bottle of "Four Star" had been freely partaken, Hardley might sleep late that morning and awaken with a "head" that would make his visit to the guard house a second thought.

Coronet Has Strange History

Made By Greatest London Goldsmith For Coronation of George IV.

The market for coronets is not what it used to be in England. Reposing in a Mayfair antiquary's shop is a perfectly good one waiting to be restored to its rightful owner, or go under the hammer, to the highest bidder, although neither seem likely to appear.

This particular piece of all but obsolete headgear has had a strange history and has been sold and resold by all sorts of people, many of whom didn't even know that it was a coronet. Its present owner had it from a man who offered it for sale as a "potato ring," a product of the old Irish goldsmiths of the seventeenth century and earlier.

But when it was polished up it was found to be a sample of the work of Paul Storr, the greatest London goldsmith of the last century, and the hall mark shows that it undoubtedly was made for the coronation of King IV.

At the coronation of the late King Edward fully two-thirds of the peers present were without coronets. The war also has intervened, bring greater democracy in the manners and the exercise of their prerogatives by peers.

The late Lord Aylesbury, of "Pellican Club" memories, once confessed that one of his first acts when he came into the family possessions was to pawn the ancestral coronet, and he never took the trouble to redeem it. "What on earth do I want with a coronet?" he used to ask.

LITTLE HELPS FOR THIS WEEK

Whatever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.—Matt. vii, 12.

Do not look for wrong and evil. You will find them if you do; As you measure for your neighbor, He will measure back to you.

Look for goodness, look for gladness, You will meet them all the while; If you bring a smiling visage To the glass, you meet a smile.

—Alice Cary

Man must become just and good through a just and good mode of treatment. Good must call for the good. This reminds me of that beautiful Swedish legend of the Middle Ages—about the youth who was changed by a witch into a wolf—but who at the sound of his Christian name spoken by a loving voice, would recover his original shape.

The Great Teacher

Experience Remains the Greatest Factor in the Progress of Life

Most Americans get their schooling between the age of six and sixteen, says Prof. Dallas L. Sharp, of Boston University. That is true. But most of us do not begin to get our real education until we leave school. Experience remains the greatest teacher. When a school graduate strikes out in the world for himself, one of the first things he has to do is unlearn much of what he has been taught. The delusion that takes most time to get out of the head is youth's inflated conception of the possibilities of success.—Bangor Commercial.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

More Deadly Than Disease

Fifteen Thousand People Killed Every Year By Automobiles

Statistics compiled by the Life Extension Institute of America show that influenza headed the list in 1921 as the most frequent cause of death, and automobile accidents came next. Typhoid fever, angina pectoris, cirrhosis of the liver and alcoholism followed in diminishing numbers in the order named.

In the decade prior to 1910 the death rate from motor accidents was one per hundred thousand. Death rate from motor accidents among policy holders of one of the largest insurance companies in the country was 15 per hundred thousand in 1923.

It is an appalling fact that fifteen thousand people are doomed to a violent death every year largely as the result of careless, reckless, wantonly selfish motor driving.

If this horrible loss of life occurred at one place and at one time public opinion would demand speedy action to avert a repetition of such a catastrophe.

Deadly monotony of motor fatalities seems to have numbed the public conscience.—Toronto Telegram.

Wins Post-Graduate Course

JAMES GLEN DAVIDSON

James Glen Davidson, assistant in the Field Husbandry Department, University of Saskatchewan, has been selected as the Saskatchewan nominee for a post-graduate scholarship in scientific agriculture payable at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que. This scholarship is valued at $500 and is one of ten such annually contributed by W. C. Macdonald Reg'd. Inc., tobacco manufacturers of Montreal. Each province is entitled to name one student for this post-graduate work which leads to the degree of M.Sc., there being an extra scholarship awarded in Quebec by reason of the bilingual situation there.

In presenting these scholarships, which have an aggregate value of $5,000, W. C. Macdonald Reg'd. Inc., is adhering to the policy of its late founder, Sir William Macdonald, who in his lifetime gave millions of dollars for the advancement of scientific and technical education in Canada, and from whose enormous benefactions Macdonald College in Ste. Anne de Bellevue was built and is being maintained. With the late Sir William it was axiomatic that progress by this young country could not be effected save through generous facilities for training scientific agriculturalists and for producing engineers competent to devise ways and means of tapping the country's enormous wealth of natural resources. With this in mind, Sir William founded Macdonald College, distributed enormously to McGill University's practical science departments and gave enormously to other institutions of similar character. Macdonald Engineer Building at McGill and Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, both stand as splendid monuments to the late Sir William, being unexcelled by any institutions of their kind.

Mr. Davidson, who will be Saskatchewan's representative in the post-graduate course this year is a native of Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1905 at the age of seventeen. His intention was to farm and for four years he worked on the land at Yorkton, Sask. In the autumn of 1911 he entered the University of Saskatchewan as an arts student, remaining there until 1915 when he again took up farming on his own account. In the autumn of 1920 he returned to the university and in May, 1921, was graduated with his B.A. He continued his studies and was graduated with distinction in May, 1924, when he took his degree of B.S.A., and was awarded the Scott Scholarship.

During the summer of 1921 he was employed by the agricultural branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Education, and from May, 1922, to April, 1924, he was student assistant to Professor Kirk in the Field Husbandry Department, being appointed scientific assistant in the same department on May 1, 1924.

THE PRODIGAL SON—WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

Golden Text: I will arise and go to my father. Luke 15:18.
Lesson: Luke 15:11-24.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 51:1-8

The Text Explained and Illumined

Seeing the World, verses 11-16. The story of the Prodigal Son everyone knows. At the demand of the self-willed younger lad, the father divided his living between his two sons. The prodigal, as we call him, thus received one-third of the whole, two-thirds going to the older brother, Dr. 21:17. The prodigal had long been chafing under the restrictions of home and he at once set out for "a far country"—a place where could "live his own life." The same feeling leads young folks astray still. The far country is often only a place where the young man or woman is out of sight of father or mother. He who is living a life that he would keep from his parents' knowledge is on the way to the far country of shame and wickedness. "The whole cry of some men, is, Give me, give me! Never mind the price. Men mind what it costs of the finer things—the love, the honor, the joy of a clean soul, the pain of others. 'Give me the portion of goods that falleth to me.' How far will selfishness carry us if we follow it to the end? It will carry us to the desert and the swine-trough and the country of the sinner" (James Reid). Our prodigal wasted his substance in riotous living and when a famine came to the land he was reduced to such want that he, a Jew, hired himself out as a feeder of swine—and a Jew could sink to no lower occupation. The swine were fed with husks, that is, the pods of the carob tree, and this was his food also. The tree grows in arid, rocky soil where nothing else will thrive and is to this day a substitute for grain among the very poor on the edge of the Sahara as well as in Syria.

Movement to Bring Desirable Class to Settle in Northern Saskatchewan

The immigration authorities are interested in a movement to bring out to Northern Saskatchewan and probably to Eastern Manitoba, of several hundred agricultural workers from Austria-Hungary. The project is being handled by Dr. H. V. Gleason, one of the largest land owners in Hungary and Czechoslovakia, who has gone on west to look over a suitable tract north of Saskatoon. Over in the doctor's country a new boundary line has been marked and his estate is now partly in one country and partly on the other, he explained to local agents. His tenants, settled on several thousand acres, are becoming discontented and he has a chance now to dispose of a large portion of it to the governments over in Europe and if he does he will acquire land in Western Canada and settle on it hundreds of his tenants who are experienced grain growers and livestock breeders. These tenants, or their ancestors, have been his family for generations.—Free Press.

An Oil of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the healing qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

Stars and Stripes Are Hoisted On Small Body of Land East Of Wrangel

Since Russia hoisted her flag over Wrangel Island in the Arctic Ocean north of Siberia, August 20, the Stars and Stripes have been run up on Herald Island, a smaller body of land, 10 miles east.

The United States claim to Herald Island was made by Captain Louis Lane, master of the gaslineschooner Herman, which returned to Nome after making a vain attempt to reach Wrangel Island, where a colony of 12, headed by James Wells, of Nome, was left last year to establish British possession.

The cutter Bear, of the United States coastguard service, and the gasoline schooner Silver Wave, made attempts to reach Wrangel Island this summer, but the only craft known to have succeeded was the vessel Red October, which claimed the island for Russia. The Herman lay at Herald Island two days.

There is still lots of threshing to be done in this district although tremendous headway has been made during the last week or ten days. Help is very plentiful and there are a large number of threshing outfits in the district. While the yield of all grains is perhaps a little better than the average a great deal of disappointment is being expressed at the low grading being received, some of the trouble being caused by second growth.

November 11th, Armistice Day, the Didsbury Women's Institute will serve a chicken supper in the Opera House commencing at 6.30 p. m. A fine program will also be rendered and music furnished by Miss Mae Studer, A. T. C. M. Admission, adults 50 cents, children 25. 3c43

Commencing this week the Saturday night dances will be held on Wednesday night after the regular show. In place of the dances however a special set of pictures will be run on Saturday nights. Harry Carey in the "Canyon of Fools" being shown this Saturday to start with. Don't forget the regular weekly dance on Wednesday night though when dancing can be kept up till a later hour.

Mrs. MacDonald, of the MacDonald Dancing Academy was in our office on Saturday and states that an endeavor is being made to form a class here. The MacDonald Academy is well known in the district for their great success in dancing and fine arts and for two years the Chautauqua have engaged pupils from this Academy.
